

Mott Award Honors Top Graduate Students

Congratulations to the students who are recipients of the 2015 Gerald O. Mott Meritorious Graduate Student Award in Crop Science. This annual award recognizes top-notch graduate students pursuing advanced degrees in crop science disciplines. Departments select students based on academic achievements, research and teaching contributions, leadership accomplishments, service activities, and personal qualifications.

The award is named for the first CSSA President Gerald O. Mott who trained 75 graduate students during his 45-year career at Purdue University and the University of Florida. Many of his students have become eminent forage scientists in the United States and Latin America. The award is offered by CSSA.

doi:10.2134/csa2015-60-5-21

Philippe Aldahir
Auburn University

Wahid Awad
Colorado State University

Renesh Bedre
Louisiana State University

Tiana Blackmon
Tarleton State University

Carolyn Butts
University of Illinois

Emily Cole
University of Massachusetts

Jared Crain
Kansas State University

Dhruva Dhakal
University of Wyoming

Katherine Frels
University of Nebraska-Lincoln

Adam Gaspar
University of Wisconsin-Madison

Prativa Gautam
Texas Tech University

John Orlowski
University of Kentucky

Rama Paudel
California State University-Fresno

Stine Petersen
North Carolina State University

Brian Pfeiffer
Texas A&M University

Cristiane Pilon
University of Arkansas

Chase Samples
Mississippi State University

Sukhbir Singh
New Mexico State University

Yu-Chien Tseng
University of Florida

Shaylyn Wiarda
Purdue University